POLITICAL PARADE

By GLEM WHITAKER

The gong has rung and the boys are squared away in the center of the ring, trading a few preliminary punches and sparring for position in the main event of California's 1944 primary campaign—the contest for U. S. Senator!

Theoretically, there should be two rings, with the Democrats tossing left hooks in one, and the Republicans unlimbering their Sunday punches in the other, for this is supposed to be just the warm-up for the senatorial championship bout in November.

There is a great gulf between theory and practice in politics, as well as in the prize ring, however, and except for a few timid lads, who prefer to take their lickings in installments, the boys are all stepping into the same ring this year to slug it out in the best free-for-all manner. In political parlance, this is called cross-filing, which means that the contenders enter the arena wearing Republican trunks and Democratic bathrobes, or vice versa, and then proceed to swap punches with all comers, regardless of party or previous condition of servitude.

In the grand melee thus far, with their formal entries either already made or scheduled, are: U. S. Senator Sheridan Downey, who now wears the crown and wants to keep it; Publisher-State Railroad Commissioner Justus Craemer, now ranked as his strongest challenger; Lieutenant Governor Fred Houser, State Equalizer William G. Bonelli, State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson, Phil Bancroft, and State Senator Jack Tenney of Los Angeles. Of all these, only Tenney and Downey are registered Democrats — and Downey, with semi-Socialistic leanings, can hardly be rated as straight Bourbon.

The most interesting aspect of this scrap, aside from the impressive list of heavyweight contenders, is the possibility that in such a mix-up—with most of the contestants running on both tickets—one of the boys might win by a knockout at the primary.

At the moment that might seem highly improbable, but party lines never have been too important in California, as evidenced by Governor Warren's spectacular and overwhelming victory two years ago, and the war has detracted greatly from what little importance they formerly had. Voters just aren't thinking in terms of party

Miss Martha Thomas Speaker At Woman's Club

Miss Martha Thomas, professor of Home Economics, San Jose State college, was the speaker at the meeting of Campbell Country Woman's club on Monday. The hall was beautifully decorated with spring flowers.

Miss Thomas' topic, the subject of the afternoon, was "Modern Textiles." With an easy and informal approach, she ran the gamut of all material in common use, explaining why we are faced with shortages of things we have been in the habit of taking for granted, and the difference OPA rulings have made in the quality of the textiles now on the market. She displayed samples of the different weaves and ended her delightful talk with a discussion on hosiery, answering many questions that have burdened the minds of women for some time.

The musical portion of the program was furnished by Miss Betty Marie Campbell, a San Jose high school student, who, accompanied by her mother at the piano, played with great skill an instrument she called a zylo-marimba, an American product that combines the zylophone with the South American marimba, and is played with a little longer stick than either of the others.

During the business meeting preceding the program, which was conducted by the president, Mrs. W. H. Van Dyke, several changes were made in the by-laws, by unanimous vote, and Mrs. W. R. Morgan, coordinator of war activities, made a report on the number of hours spent by club members in Red Cross work, and the finished garments turned in, through the sewing division.

Committee members in charge of the afternoon were Mesdames Nellie Rutherford, C. P. Klassen, D. W. Clark, Hattie Baugh, and Mrs. F. H. Cutting.

loyalty, no matter how much that may pain party chieftains. Add to that the fact that only about 30 to 35 per cent of the registered voters are expected to go to the polls at the May primary; then split that small vote up five or six ways from center—and it's one of those situations where anything can happen.

Reckoned the man with the best chance to romp through at the primary with both nominations, at this writing, is Justus Craemer, whose strong newspaper support crosses party lines in nearly every section of the state. Mr. Downey had better watch Mr. Craemer; he's a hard-hitter and the crowd likes him!

Pundita Guest Day Held Last Week

The guest day which Pundita Circle observed last Wednesday was a very pleasant occasion for members and their visitors.

The hostesses, Mesdames Fred Stephens, Earl Booker, George Rucker, B. O. Curry, Walker Vaughn and Kenneth Robison had arranged a delightful program including piano solos by Mrs. Louis Widman, a one time resident of Campbell; vocal selections by Mrs. R. J. Mackay of San Jose, accompanied by Mrs. W. D. Hieney, also of San Jose; violin numbers by Claire Booker, accompanied by her mother; and accordion pieces by Elaine Pierce.

Miss Katherine Hodge, an Englishwoman who has been in this country only a few years, gave descriptions of English heaths, ptrks and gardens.

The hostesses had chosen a pink and white motif which was carried out in decorations and refreshments. Pink camellias were used lavishly in lovely floral arrangements, with freesias, almond blossoms and torch lilies completing the spring effect.

Refreshments were served on individual trays that were decorated with pink lace doilies, napkins and a camelia on each.

CELEBRATION, SHOW ENJOYED BY BIG CROWD

The afternoon and evening programs presented in Campbell on Tuesday, celebrating Old Settlers' Day, were unusually well attended with everyone expressing enjoyment of the well planned festivities.

Students of the high school were the main participants in the afternoon's entertainment with selections by the orchestra and choir. The Cub Scouts of Campbell Pack 9, who performed so well at the Scout circus in San Jose last Friday evening, again presented their pageant depicting early day America up to the present. Leonard Avilla's talk on "Americanism" was timely, interesting and informative and well received by an enthusiastic audience.

Community singing led by Don Baldwin started the entertainment in the evening at the high school, followed by The Footlighters' presentation of "He Ain't Done Right by Nell," a highly amusing melodrama extremely well acted out by Dorothy Fournane, Jack Murdock, Laverna Hodges, Budd Levenberg, Marion Nelson, Florence Smith, and LBen Howard. Hal Morton played a medley of old time tunes during the intermission preceding the olio.

Danny O'Neil, popular high school student led this part of the entertainment which was emceed by Archie Keesling, favoring with three selections on his accordion. Manuel Vierra, well known vocalist sang two selections, accompanied by Irma Sanders at the piano. Gil DuMont, trumpeter, accompanied by his wife at the piano, both arrayed in appropriate costumes, played three numbers, embellished by hilarious gestures. Klassen, Jack Murdock, Manuel Vierra, Don Baldwin, wound up the evening with the rendering of several numbers, ending a very full and pleasurable evening.

As a member of the Old Settlers' Day committee, and in behalf of the chamber of commerce of Campbell, I wish to express my thanks to all who made the day a success. Special thanks should go to W. H. Van Dyke and the Campbell High school student body for making the 1 o'clock program so successful. This was the year when conditions were very much against a successful celebration, and then to top it all off it really rained! Also thanks should go to The Footlighters and all who took part in the evening performance. It was really swell. Thanks to the merchants for displaying the advertising cards. Thanks to the Boy Scouts for selling tickets, and thanks to the Press for its splendid publicity.

"Blithe Spirit," the Noel Coward scintillating comedy, plays a single performance on Sunday evening, Feb. 27, coming direct to San Jose after three weeks of sold-out performances in San Francisco. The original New York cast with Clifton Webb, Peggy Wood, Mildred Natwick, and Haila Stoddard, deals with the unexpected results of a seance held by a medium at the request of a novelist. The novelist husband finds himself suddenly with two wives, one an impish ghost and the other the real. Witty dialogue and fantastic situations ensue. "A completely insane farce that is also uproarious" said the New York Times.

Craemer First
To File for U. S.
Senate Race

First to file his formal declaration of candidacy in the race for U. S. senator, Justus Craemer, Orange county publisher, grower and member of the state railroad commission, will seek nominations of both the Republican and Democratic parties at the May 16 primary.

Craemer, whose 25 years' experience as newspaper publisher and orange grower have given him a keen appreciation of California's rural problems, also has had close contact with business and industrial problems in the entire state, due to a successful public career as a secretary in the governor's office, as deputy director of the state department of public works, as state building and loan commissioner, and in his present capacity as a member of the state railroad commission. He is also a past president of the California Newspaper Publishers association and of the National Editorial association.

A painting by Francis H. Cutting which was hung in the nation-wide annual art exhibit held recently in Santa Cruz, which he submitted in the purchase prize group, was chosen by the winner of the associate members, out of a total of 47 in the group.

For Youth Center

The Youth Center will be opened to the public as soon as the Scout Hall is reconitioned. A new floor is in the process of being built; the building is being painted; and a kitchen will be constructed.

It will probably be opened according to demand of those who attend. How large the crowds are and on what nights they come, will be factors in determining how much service the center can give.

Apologies to Chuck Cothran and Elwood DeVilbiss, whose pictures were interchanged in last issue's Who's Who.

The regular monthly all-day meeting of the general women's guild of the Congregational church will be held in the church parlors Thursday, March 2. Members will convene at 10 a. m. to do Red Cross work. Coffee will be served at noon, and members are asked to bring their own lunch. As it is time for a regular business meeting, a large attendance is hoped for and group leaders are urged to be present.

The next meeting of Sigma Sigma will be held Tuesday, Feb. 29, at the Red Cross rooms in the Curry building. The evening will be spent making surgical dressings so desperately needed for our armed forces. Members will later adjourn to the home of Mrs. Worthin Grattan at 90 Harrison avenue for refreshments. Members are reminded to bring a clean wash dress or smock, and a suitable head covering.

We regret that the name of Mrs. Mildred Farley was omitted from the list of names submitted to us last week of the Campbell nurses aides. Mrs. Farley graduated in an earlier group and is serving at O'Connor sanitarium.

A marriage license was issued Monday to Charles E. Sanchez, 27, and Helen Rose Fry, 21, both of Campbell.
